SHAPING THE WORLD WE NEED

SUN VALLEY I JUNE 6-8, 2022
www.sunvalleyforum.com

Welcome to the Sun Valley Forum!

We've missed connection, inspiration and having the chance to spark new partnerships and strategies, and look forward to a wonderful few days together.

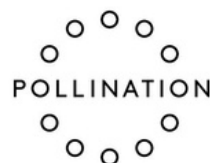

We gather when the devastating war on Ukraine, the pandemic, and the already visible harms from climate change have surfaced the dangerous consequences of our unsustainable, inequitable and insecure world. We are called to take action.

Powered by an ambitious, courageous and compassionate community of participants, the Sun Valley Forum has a record of catalyzing and accelerating impact. We will leverage the Forum to activate solutions for right now and for the rest of this Decisive Decade and beyond. Gathering diverse perspectives from near and far and across generations, we will rapidly grow resilience for all communities and economies, holding each other accountable for the ambition and results of our collective action.

We are pleased to present our 2022 program for us to go far, fast, together.

OPTIONAL EVENING PROGRAM

5:00-7:30 PM YOUTH v GOV @ SILVERCREEK ROOM, LIMELIGHT HOTEL, FREE PUBLIC FILM SCREENING

YOUTH v GOV is the story of the Juliana v. The United States of America constitutional lawsuit and the 21 American youth, ages 14 to 25, who are taking on the world's most powerful government. Since 2015, the legal non-profit Our Children's Trust, has been representing these youth in their landmark case against the U.S. government for violating their constitutional rights to life, liberty, personal safety, and property through their willful actions in creating the climate crisis they will inherit.

As leaders in the youth climate movement, the twenty-one plaintiffs of Juliana v. The United States of America represent the diversity of American youth impacted by the climate crisis. They hail from 10 states: Florida, Alaska, Hawaii, Colorado, Oregon, Washington, Pennsylvania, Arizona, Louisiana, and New York. These film characters encompass cultural, economic and geographic diversity and many come from marginalized communities, serving as beacons of hope for those who do not have a platform to share their own stories. They are African-American, Indigenous, white, bi-racial, and LGBTQ, and their diversity speaks not only to the impacts of climate change, but to the inclusion required if we are to build a better and more just future together. These young people are activists, students, artists, musicians, and farmers, and their stories are universal.

*Q&A following with the Director, Producer and two of the youth litigants

ROOTS SO DEEP @ THE ARGYROS PERFORMING ARTS CENTER TIERNEY THEATER
"Roots So Deep (you can see the devil down there)" is a 4-part documentary series all about inventive farmers and maverick scientists building a path to solving climate change with hooves, heart and soil.

Can a novel way to graze cattle, that mimics the way bison once roamed the land, help get farmers out of debt, restore our depleted soils, rebuild wildlife habitat and draw down huge amounts of carbon? Cattle have been seen as eco-villains for a long time. What if they can help save us from catastrophic climate change?

Join us for a sneak peek at Episode 1 of the series.

Q&A following with the director, producer and writer, Peter Byck, Professor of Practice, School of Sustainability, College of Global Futures, ASU

- 8:40AM THE URGENCY OF NOW: STRATEGIC CLIMATE INTERVENTIONS AT SCALE
Hosted by the Chief Climate Officer of the U.S. Agency for International Development, this session will provide an overview of the climate solutions required to drive action in the decisive decade to come - with attention on the need for substantial increases in climate finance from the public and private sectors and where we need to focus our efforts

The panel, moderated by USAID Chief Climate Officer Gillian Caldwell, will also feature a call to action for the conference participants and includes speakers from the field, the private sector, and government.

- Host: Gillian Caldwell, Chief Climate Officer, USAID
- Mark Campanale, Founder & Executive Chairman, Carbon Tracker
- Ms. Lim Seok Hui, Head, Philanthropy Asia Alliance, Temasek Foundation
- Emily Robichaux, First Vice President, Sustainability, Amalgamated Bank

9:30AM

SPARK TALK: HOW WE MEASURE CLIMATE RISK AND OPPORTUNITY

How is one innovative risk management company tackling the multi-faceted challenge of measuring and managing climate financial risk and opportunity? Hear Dr. Dembo describe the scale of the technical challenge and how his company, riskthinking.AI, has built a platform that can measure risk and opportunity anywhere in the world, for any asset class, across any future time horizon.

- Dr. Ron Dembo, CEO & Founder, RiskThinking.AI

9:40AM

BUILDING THE WORLD WE NEED: TRANSFORMING ENERGY

Due to rapidly falling prices of clean energy and the demand for climate smart energy systems that are clean and secure in the face of disasters, the world has been rapidly shifting to more localized, cleaner, and more resilient energy systems. Solar photovoltaics is the fastest growing source of energy with 139 GW of global capacity added in 2020, and many nations - and auto companies - have announced the end of the internal combustion engine. The war on Ukraine has wrought devastation on the people and places of that nation. It has also brought new life to the oil industry, which has recently announced the development of assets that previously were unattractive due to low oil prices, but are now moving forward with new infrastructure that may lock in another 20-30 years of production and associated greenhouse gas emissions. Hear from public sector policymakers and from private sector innovators, energy developers and advocates about how we can accelerate the transition to a clean, resilient energy future, to electric transportation, to electric homes and buildings, and to clean, safe and secure sources of energy, with the solutions that are working and how we can replicate and scale them around the world.

- Host: Jeremiah Baumann, Chief of Staff for the Office of the Under Secretary for Infrastructure, U.S. Department of Energy
- Clare Magee, Senior Consultant, Loan Programs Office (LPO), U.S. Department of Energy
- Keishaa Austin, Head of Partnerships and Engagement, Rewiring America
- Sunil Paul, CEO & Co-founder, Spring Free EV
- Britta MacIntosh, Senior Vice President, Western Region & London Operations, Ameresco

BUILDING THE WORLD WE NEED: TRANSFORMING FOOD AND AGRICULTURE

The pandemic and the war on Ukraine have brought into stark relief both the vulnerability of the industrialized, centralized and globalized food and agricultural systems as well as its threats to health, security and our climate. By transforming these sectors to be more localized, resource efficient, and climate-smart, food and agriculture can be powerful contributors to resilience and prosperity in economies and communities. From rural regions in the United States and emerging markets to urban centers, food and agriculture can be an engine for opportunity. Hear from the innovators, experts and leaders who are transforming our food system for health, security and our climate – and better tasting food!

Opening Remarks: Mark Brand, Founder, A Better Life Foundation

Agricultural Innovation:

- Host: Tim Lasalle, Co-founder of the Center for Regenerative Agriculture and Resilient Systems at Chico State and former head of Rodale Institute
- Peter Byck, Professor of Practice, School of Sustainability, College of Global Futures, Arizona State University

Food System Innovation:

- Host: Kate Geagan, Author, Nutritionist and Co-Founder, Food + Planet
- Jennifer Bushman, Fed By Blue & CMO, Kvarøy Arctic
- Dr. Lee Recht, VP For Sustainability, Aleph Farms

WORKING SESSIONS: INNOVATION LABORATORIES @ THE LIMELIGHT HOTEL

The Forum has a record of sparking new cross-sector collaborations, mobilizing capital towards promising ideas, and inspiring uncommon thinking. To drive even greater impact, in addition to main stage sessions, we are hosting action-oriented working sessions called "Innovation Laboratories" and will have two sessions held simultaneously, where participants can roll up their sleeves to work together in a more focused way to drive impact across the key sectors of food and energy. We will continue the discussion from the main Forum session. These collaborative working sessions will provide the opportunity for us to identify gaps and needs and aim to spark new action.

FINANCIAL RISK AND RESILIENCE, RETURNS AND OPPORTUNITY: HOW DATA, ESG, AND POLICIES ARE GUIDING CAPITAL AND ASSET MANAGEMENT IN A TIME OF CLIMATE CHANGE

Global policymakers, insurers and investors are increasingly recognizing the vast risks from climate change and are changing regulations and insurance and asset management strategies as a result. It is estimated that ten of 2021's most extreme weather events caused a total of $170.3 billion in damage globally. Earlier this year, the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission announced new rules requiring corporations to disclose climate risk so that investors have the information they need. At the same time, over $170 trillion in assets have committed to "net zero" investing by 2050 to align with the Paris climate agreement and leverage strategic investment opportunities. Join experts from insurance, regulation and investment to hear what this means for the economy, for businesses, and for all of us.

- Host: Jay Bruns, Senior Climate Policy Advisor, Washington State Office of the Insurance Commissioner
- Chris Fowle, Head of ESG Integration - Investments, Guardian Life

11:45AM

CONSTRUCTING RESILIENT ENERGY SYSTEMS: SALMON AND ELECTRICITY IN THE PACIFIC NORTHWEST

Idaho's wild salmon and steelhead are on the brink of extinction, but remain resilient against the effects of climate change, invasive species, and hydroelectric dams. Many of those dams are aging and increasingly irrelevant to the energy needs of the Northwest. This panel's experts will discuss how to restore salmon to abundance and move the Northwest's energy system into the 21st century at the same time.

- David Eichberg, Global Head of Climate Strategy & ESG Assessments, HP Inc.
- Chantel Greene, CEO & Founder, Xexus Greene Energy and Nez Perce Tribe Gaming Commission Director, Nez Perce Tribal Enterprise
- Jim Norton, Project Coordinator, Columbia Rediviva
- Russ Thurow, Fisheries Research Scientist, USFS-Rocky Mountain Research Station

SPARK TALK: THE CASE FOR ACCELERATING CLIMATE ACTION THROUGH EMPOWERMENT

There is an urgent need for an all-of-society mobilization for just and equitable climate solutions across this country. However, making the case for climate action and building the capacity and workforce to implement it are challenges that are limiting our climate ambition. This talk will explore why an all-of-society climate action infrastructure is needed and what it might look like. Join Frank Niepold in this Spark Talk to hear how climate empowerment can provide an urgently-needed “middle-out” strategy to accelerate climate action.

- Frank Niepold, Senior Climate Education Program Manager and Coordinator, National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration (NOAA)

TURN IT AROUND! MOBILIZING YOUTH VISIONS AND VOICES TO REIMAGINE CLIMATE FUTURES

Decisions about our climate futures are usually made without the input of those who will be living those very futures. Join a global youth-led campaign that mobilizes the power of socially engaged art to ‘reeducate’ policymakers, reimagine climate futures, and share the voices of youth in spaces where they have been historically excluded. By flipping who teaches whom and what knowledge matters, this is a reminder that everyone — and everything — must change.

- Host: Eamonn Store, Founder & CEO, FairShare
- Iveta Silova, Professor and Associate Dean of Global Engagement at Mary Lou Fulton Teachers College, Arizona State University
- Saiarchana Darira, Youth Engagement Lead of “Turn It Around!” Campaign
- Elizabeth Quigley, Director of Partnerships & Engagement, the Sustainability Alliance, Arizona State University

ABOUT THE SUN VALLEY FORUM HOST: CHRISTENSEN GLOBAL

CHRISTENSEN GLOBAL

Christensen Global shapes the world we need by activating strategies to transform industries, empower communities and build flourishing, resilient economies. We partner with visionary leaders, leveraging our deep expertise and diverse network to rebalance our planet's systems to realize an equitable, secure, and restorative world.

We work with innovators to scale solutions; we work with investors & philanthropists to mobilize impact capital; we work with industries to turn aspirations into impact; and we work with governments and multilateral institutions to shape public-private initiatives to address our greatest challenges.

We collaborate: We partner with visionary leaders to turn aspiration into impact to achieve the future we need.

We ideate: We shape transformative initiatives by convening our diverse community from government, industry, investment, philanthropy and media.

We activate: We align efforts, mobilize resources and empower all to build the world we need.

Our vision: We are building the world we need, one that reconnects people with nature, is accelerated by collaboration, is driven by science and innovation, is interconnected by stories, is guided by nature's intelligence, embraces the power of art, rebalances planetary systems, and is powered by just, inclusive and circular economies.
